AS FAR AS the racing community is concerned, California is considered an island—far enough removed geographically from other major jurisdictions that it is left to fend for itself. Despite a bonus program instituted by Del Mar for those that ship into the Golden State to run, California remains largely self-reliant when it comes to filling fields. Just as significantly, California is an island when it comes to trying to maintain top-shelf racing without the benefit of casino money. It is the only major racing circuit that receives not a dime from the spinning of some sort of slot machine, video lottery terminal, or table game.

UNUSUAL HEAT STILL COOKING

There is a special bond that ties outstanding regional sires to their locale of excellence. Not For Love was loved by Maryland breeders and owners as he dominated that state's progeny earners. And in California, Unusual Heat, a six-time leading sire in the Golden State, is beloved for his excellence and longevity. The 26-year-old son of Nureyev—Rossard, by Glacial, is poised for yet another book of mares in 2016.

Unusual Heat ranked fourth for 2015 on the California sires list, and for the ninth consecutive season his progeny earned more than $3 million. After setting a California record with $5.8 million in progeny earnings in 2008, Unusual Heat proceeded to top the chart every year through 2013.

"A lot of it has to do with the heart and the mental aspect he instills in his progeny," said Harris Auerbach, the managing partner of the Unusual Heat syndicate. "No matter what their natural ability, they are all competitive and like to win races. They enjoy their job and love being racehorses."

Harris' mother, Madeline, and trainer Barry Abrams believed in Unusual Heat from the get-go, standing him first at Kachina Farm in 1999 and then at Old English Rancho from 2000-09. From 2010 to the present, Unusual Heat has stood at Harris Farms, where his fee since 2011 has been $20,000.

Unusual Heat

RON MESAROS

"When he first started, my mom and Barry Abrams bred some of the worst mares you could ever find to him, and he just threw runners and encouraged us to get some better mares," Harris Auerbach noted.

Today, some 20% of those better mares that are bred to Unusual Heat come from out of state, from respected breeders such as Charles Fipke. The Auerbachs, among others, have purchased mares in Kentucky specifically to send to Unusual Heat, whose book is limited to about 35 mares. That number could rise, depending on how Unusual Heat is handling breeding. Last year he bred 46 mares.

"He does have one arthritic knee," Auerbach noted, "but he gets around fine on it and he loves to breed. He sees mares going to the breeding shed for other stallions and he gets pretty upset that they're not all for him. He continues to want to do it, and that's why we're keeping at it."

Not only have Unusual Heat's progeny earned better than $3 million in 2015, but he also approached that figure as a broodmare sire. Masochistic won the 2015 Triple Bend Stakes (gr. I) and Spanish Queen took the American Oaks (gr. IT), led the way among his progeny as a broodmare sire.

It has not gone unscathed. Hit by the Great Recession along with the rest of the continent, racing is now held most of the year just four times a week (five at the summer meet at Del Mar). Mare population and foal crops cratered to stark lows. Yet the industry has in the past couple of years stabilized and now is starting to show modest growth, no mean feat given the island factor and the lack of help from gaming. In large part the uptick is due to an aggressive series of programs emphasizing the homegrown product—Cal-breds.

In the early 1990s when the horse industry retracted, foal numbers in California hit a low of about 3,200. A couple of years ago, in the teeth of the recession, the foal crop diminished to half that number and is just now beginning to work its way north of 2,000.

Special Note For Sire Lists:

For stallions that stand, will stand, or stood (deceased) in the states featured in this section (stallions that are dead or exported prior to 2011 are excluded), and have runners in North America. Listed below are all available statistics for the Northern Hemisphere through December 31, 2015. As supplied to Blood-Horse by The Jockey Club Information Systems Inc., include adjusted money from Japan, Hong Kong, and Singapore. Adjusted earnings are put on par with average North American earnings from the previous year. For example, the average North American purse in 2014 is $21,617 or 45% of the 2014 average purse in Japan. To put earnings on par, all Japanese progeny earnings are multiplied by 45% before being credited to a sire's progeny earnings. Hong Kong earnings are adjusted by 19%; Singapore by 54%. Current year stakes winners include all N.H.-foaled stakes winners worldwide and any S.H.-foaled horses that won a N.H. stakes. *Foal counts include Southern Hemisphere. Cumulative stakes winners includes all countries. (A ♯) indicates a sire represented by his first crop to race).

*AVERAGE-EARNINGS INDEX and COMPARABLE INDEX: Lifetime AVERAGE-EARNINGS INDEX indicates how much purse money the progeny of one sire has earned in relation to the average earnings of all runners in the same years; average earnings of all runners in any year is represented by an index of 1.00; COMPARABLE INDEX indicates the average earnings of progeny produced from mares bred to one sire, when these same mares were bred to other sires. Only 32% of all sires have a lifetime AVERAGE-EARNINGS INDEX higher than their mares' COMPARABLE INDEX.

Something had to be done to stimulate breeding—and subsequently owning—Cal-breds, and that something was to try to increase their value.

Enter the California Thoroughbred

Breeders Association under the guidance of Doug Burge, a Kentucky native who grew up in a family that owned some horses and who graduated from the University of Kentucky with a degree in marketing and from the University of Louisville with a graduate degree in equine administration. Now in his mid-40s, Burge has helmed the organization for close to 20 years and has succeeded in bringing the various alphabet groups in the state together to keep racing going, and to make Cal-breds attractive.

“The biggest difference in the state now from a decade ago is how dependent California racing has become on Cal-breds,” said Burge. “Fifteen or 20 years ago Cal-breds made up about one-third of the field size out here. Now they make up between 55-60%, and growing. Without a strong Cal-bred product, we’d go from four days a week to being lucky to have two.

“When the recession hit in 2008 and 2009, our foal crop numbers were diving and people were not investing in breeding horses. We knew we had to do something to stabilize breeding trends and, hopefully after that, concentrate on some growth, and that’s exactly what we’ve been able to do.”

Burge stressed these accomplishments

ments were possible because of cooperation among the CTBA, Thoroughbred Owners of California, the state's racetrack operators, and the California Marketing Committee in collectively turning things in the right direction for Cal-breds. First, Cal-breds were given more favorable conditions to optimize their earning potential. For example, Cal-breds that win an entry level allowance race restricted to state-breds can come right back and run in that same condition against open company.

About six years ago Burge and Martin Panza, the former racing secretary at Hollywood Park who has gone on to become the New York Racing Association's director of racing, came up with a bonus plan to reward owners of Cal-breeds when those horses broke their maidens in either open or restricted company. In addition to the purse, the program awarded $20,000 to owners whose horses broke their maidens in Southern California and $10,000 if the horse broke its maiden in Northern California. Due to the popularity of the program, the Southern California bonus has since been reduced to $17,500.

"That check is written to the owner within 30 days," said Burge. "It is a joint effort between the CTBA and TOC from the purse account. We put up a certain amount of dollars and they matched it from the purse account. This has been extremely successful. Even with smaller foal crops we wanted to increase the value of Cal-breds. We wanted to write more maiden special weight races for Cal-breds and have more people take a shot in those races, and that's exactly what has happened. We also took the maiden claiming price of $32,000 for state-breds and increased it to $50,000, to give more protection to the owner and make sure they are running for more money with the same horses."

Unlike other states where the purses for restricted races are smaller than for open company, Cal-bred maiden special weight races carry the same purse as open races. At Del Mar's summer meet, for example, Cal-bred maiden special weight races go for about $75,000, plus the $17,500 bonus for a win. That represents a substantial payday for owning a Cal-bred.

"We wanted to reward owners as quickly as we could," said Burge. "We got people's attention and jump-started this turn in the right direction. No other state has anything like this, and it has really helped stimulate breeding in the state as well as ownership."

Another joint effort among the CTBA, TOC, and breeders has yielded the Golden State stakes series composed of about 40 restricted stakes a year, each carrying a purse of at least $100,000. With the TOC helping from the purse side and a $300 fee from breeders to nominate their 2-year-olds to the series, the program has been expanded and its purses significantly increased.

Now, California Cup Day, which has been moved from just before Breeders' Cup to a new slot one week before the Super Bowl, offers $1 million in purses to Cal-breds. A second day, which was instituted as Gold Rush Day when the program was run at Hollywood Park, now runs the Saturday of Memorial Day weekend at Santa Anita and offers more than $1 million in purses when factoring in the overnight races.

As a result, the number of mares bred in the state has increased for two years running, and the foal crop, which had dropped to near 1,500, is estimated to climb above 2,000 in 2016. The Golden State series is worth about $6 million annually.

“What is truly impressive is that even with just half the foals that we had 15 years ago, today we’re filling Cal-bred races better than we ever have,” said Burge. “That tells me that the horses that are being raised are making it to the track in greater percentages than they did before. So it’s a quality and quantity situation.

“A law was put in 25 years ago mandating that the tracks had to write at least one Cal-bred race a day, and we used to have to police that,” Burge continued. “We don’t have to anymore.

Burge, with Breeders' Cup president Craig Fravel and state legislators at the 2014 Breeders' Cup at Santa Anita

We average between one and a half and two Cal-bred races per day in the South. With the smaller inventory in the North there is more a mix of Cal-breds and open horses combining to fill races. However, when you win an open race with a Cal-bred anywhere in the state, you get a 30% bonus on top of the purse. So up North, where the percentage of Cal-breds can be 60-70% in some races, you’re running in an open race even though most of the horses are Cal-breds, yet you’re running for 30% more.”

The auction picture in California is very much in transition. Barretts, long the leading auction house in the state, has had to abandon its Pomona location near Santa Anita Park and is now conducting its auctions at Del Mar. The timing of those yearling and 2-year-old sales is being tinkered with, both as far as the calendar and even time of day. While the 2-year-old in training sales performed well in 2015, the yearling numbers have not kept pace with the amount of purse and bonus money being offered for Cal-breds. Barretts’ select yearling sale at Del Mar in 2015 sold 42 of 67 head offered for a gross of $1,534,000, an average of $36,524, and a median of $31,000. CTBA’s yearling sale in Northern California sold 117 of 157 offered for an average of $11,537 and a median of $7,500.

Buyers were far more willing to spend for 2-year-olds at auction with an eye toward more promptly cashing in some of that purse and bonus money. Barretts 2015 selected 2-year-olds in training sale sold 44 of 65 offered for a gross of $5,848,000, an average of $132,909, and a median of $97,500. Its May sale of 2-year-olds in training saw 92 lots change hands for a $4,199,000 gross, $45,641 average, and $30,000 median.

“There are trainers that tell me they’re coming to these sales looking for Cal-breds in large part because of the bonuses,” said Burge. “If you’re a trainer with a lot of horses, it makes sense to have some Cal-breds so you can split them up where they’re not running against one another. Plus, you’re running for the same purse money in that Cal-bred maiden special weight as you’d be in an open race. Those are options people should be taking advantage of. The opportunities right now are as good as I’ve seen them in 20 years.”

California’s breeding industry has entered a period of transition concerning its sire power. Perennial leading sire Unusual Heat (see page 36) is 26, and top stallions such as Bertrando, In Excess, and Tribal Rule have passed from the scene. Thus, there is opportunity for new stallion prospects coming in such as grade II winner Balance the Books, grade III winner Governor Charlie, Stimulus Plan, Curlin to Mischief, Cogito, and Circumference.

There is also hope that new people will be coming into the state to buy or lease farms.

Burge estimates that there are 3,000 mares in the state, and said that of the 2,000 foals expected in 2016, some 300 will be by out-of-state stallions. California has instituted a breed-back rule so that even though a foal is conceived in, for example, Kentucky, as long as the mare foals in California and is bred back to a California stallion, the Kentucky-conceived foal is considered a Cal-bred eligible for restricted purses and state-bred awards.

In addition, state law was changed a few years back so that races are written for Cal-bred or Cal-sired horses. So an owner can run a Kentucky-bred horse by, for example, Unusual Heat, that is eligible to run in Cal-bred races because it’s registered as being Cal-sired. Such horses, however, are not eligible for owner or breeder awards because they’re not Cal-breds.

Cal-breds that run first, second, or third in any race in California earn their breeders award money. Also, breeder awards are paid whenever a Cal-bred wins a graded stakes outside the state.

One legislative bill in California that could potentially help the horse racing industry here is the Internet poker bill, which has been discussed for several years and would legalize Internet poker in the state.

“Our goal with this is to make sure racing has a level playing field and is treated equally,” said Burge. “We believe tracks should be able to apply for a license just like a tribe or a card club, and we have significant support from legislators.”

California racing may be synonymous nationwide with the stars sent out by Bob Baffert—and, in fact, the first three finishers across the wire in last year’s Kentucky Derby Presented by Yum! Brands (gr. I) were California-based—but the bread and butter of day-to-day racing in the state has become the Cal-bred program.

Said Burge, “People used to complain about having bred or bought a Cal-bred that was ready to run, only races weren’t being written for them or the ones that were, weren’t filling. Now you don’t hear those complaints. If people complain today about too many state-bred races, the answer is to get a couple of Cal-breds. The opportunities are here to make money.” BH
