LUCK AND FATE have always played major roles in horse racing, and one of the best examples of that is Randy Patterson and his daughter, Sara. The father scored big with $40,000 claimer-turned-grade 1 winner Moonshine Mullin, which he freely chalks up to luck, and for Sara, a fateful day in 2015 put her into a dream position, managing Cedar Run Farm just outside Hot Springs, Ark.

To be clear, the Pattersons both have a lifetime of experience with and a passion for horses that have fueled their success. For Randy, that experience started as an infant at Anthony Downs, a historic and now-defunct oval in his Kansas hometown of Anthony.

"I was 4 days old the first time I went to Anthony Downs," said Randy, whose parents were racing fans but never owned racehorses. "There was no parimutuel (at the time), so you just bet with your neighbor or whoever was next to you. We went every year until they closed in 2009."

Grade 1 winner and Cedar Run stallion Moonshine Mullin tears through his paddock

Randy, who still lives in Anthony and has a cattle business, got into the game in the mid-1980s when he partnered with a few others on a claimer at Ak-Sar-Ben in Nebraska. Among his previous trainers was W.R. "Charlie" Morse, which led Paterson to put horses in the barn of Morse's son Randy.

In November 2013 the two Randys halted Moonshine Mullin for $40,000 at Remington Park. The 5-year-old son of Albert the Great had plenty of back class—

Special Note For Sire Lists:

For stallions that stand, will stand, or stood (deceased) in the states featured in this section (stallions that are dead or exported prior to 2015 are excluded), and have runners in North America. Listed below are all available statistics for the Northern Hemisphere through March 10, 2019. As supplied to BloodHorse by The Jockey Club Information Systems Inc., lists include adjusted money from Japan, Hong Kong, and Singapore. Adjusted earnings are put on par with average North American earnings from the previous year. For example, the average North American purse in 2018 is $23,755 or 50% of the 2018 average purse in Japan. To put earnings on par, all Japanese progeny earnings are multiplied by 50% before being credited to a sire's progeny earnings. Hong Kong earnings are adjusted by 15%; Singapore by 66%. Current year stakes winners include all Northern Hemisphere black-type stakes results from all available countries. *Foal counts include Southern Hemisphere. Cumulative stakes winners include all countries.

*AVERAGE-EARNINGS INDEX and COMPARABLE INDEX: Lifetime AVERAGE-EARNINGS INDEX indicates how much purse money the progeny of one sire has earned in relation to the average earnings of all runners in the same years; average earnings of all runners in any year is represented by an index of 1.00; COMPARABLE INDEX indicates the average earnings of progeny produced from mares bred to one sire, when these same mares were bred to other sires. Only 32% of all sires have a lifetime AVERAGE-EARNINGS INDEX higher than their mares' COMPARABLE INDEX.

two years earlier he had run second to Stay Thirsty in the Jim Dandy Stakes (G2) and a respectable sixth behind that same horse in the Travers Stakes (G1). At the time of the claim, Moonshine Mullin was a solid allowance/high-end claimer, but he really found his stride again in 2014 with five consecutive wins, the last two coming at Churchill Downs in the Alysheba Stakes (G2) and Stephen Foster Handicap (G1) in an upset over Will Take Charge.

Moonshine Mullin's Foster effort earned him a "Win and You're In" berth in the Breeders' Cup Classic (G1), but an injury prevented him from making that race and he was retired the following spring after re-entering training for a time. All told, he earned $1,014,361 with nine wins from 32 starts. More than $637,000 of that bankroll was for Patterson and Morse.

"We got lucky," said Patterson, who currently has about 12 horses on the track. "Randy did it all; he picked him out, and he trained him."

That wasn't the first time Patterson and Morse found success with a high-priced claimer. In 2010 at Oaklawn, they dropped a claim on Kate's Main Man for $35,000. The Iowa-bred gelding by Stephen Got Even went on to earn more than $380,000 for Patterson with two stakes wins at Prairie Meadows and a victory in the $100,000 Essex Handicap at Oaklawn in 2011.

Patterson said he had offers to sell Moonshine Mullin, both prior to his injury leading up to the Breeders' Cup and afterward as a stallion prospect. In the end, he decided to hang on to the horse and stand him himself.

The question of where to stand him was easily solved as Patterson had recently purchased a farm in Pearcy, Ark., with Sara running the operation.

A FORTUITOUS DAY

Around the end of 2013, Sara was at a crossroads in her career. She was working as a heavy equipment operator for a waste management company in Kansas, but her employment there came with one caveat.

"I told them, 'I've got to be honest and that if my dad ever decides to buy a horse farm, I'm out of here,'" she said.

"We broke for lunch, and I had missed a call from him," she recalled. "He said, 'I was just calling to tell you that you need to start thinking of a name for our farm in Arkansas.'

"Of all days, it happened on the same day they offered me a new job. I couldn't even concentrate after that, so I told them I needed to think about the job offer. I ended up quitting a couple of weeks later and moved to Hot Springs."

The father-daughter team decided on Cedar Run Farm for the name as the property is surrounded by cedar-lined mountains. Although Sara knew her father had been looking for a farm, she had no idea he was close to sealing the deal.

"I had gone by the place once with him, but the gates were closed so I didn't really get to look at it," she said. "He was kind of secretive about it."

After going through the gates for the first time, Sara realized she had some serious work to do.

"There were a few horses here, but it was a little rundown," she said. "We pulled up to the barn, and he threw the door open and it was packed full of stuff. He said, 'Wrap your arms around it; you're getting busy.' It was an overwhelming feeling, but day by day we've pretty much renovated the entire place."

BUILDING A DREAM AS A FAMILY

Even though Sara grew up around horses and had some experience with Thoroughbreds in Kansas, taking the reins of a full-scale farm was a significant undertaking, especially considering nearly everything on the property needed to be replaced or renovated. Even so, she couldn't be happier with the long hours required for the job she said she's always wanted to have.

"My family has been into rodeos and roping, so I've been around horses my whole life," she said. "As a kid, I remember being able to sit on the fence and watch them saddle the horses at Anthony Downs, and I thought it was so cool that my dad had horses. I loved it from the moment I can remember."

She has put that passion to work at Cedar Run since moving there in December 2013.

"I pretty much walked in with a tool box and went around and started at one thing and went on to the next," Sara said. "My first year we had three or four horses on the farm, and then we were down to two after the Oaklawn meet ended. I thought, 'How am I going to keep the lights on with two horses?' I was still trying to figure out the business and was a bit overwhelmed, but today we have about 65 horses."

The current equine population is a mix of broodmares and foals along with some yearlings, 2-year-olds, and lay-ups, mostly from Oaklawn. The Pattersons own about 25 of the horses.

Sara said the farm is about full at this point, although she's still working on a recent expansion that brought the total acreage to around 200 after starting at just 40. She oversees a full-time staff of six that includes her mother—Randy's ex-wife, Tyra.

"I've got a great crew of people, and she's my right-hand man," Sara said. "They have been divorced since I was 1, but this farm has brought us all together. It's been kind of a whole family-type deal, which I never would have dreamed in my wildest dreams. I had never really seen them together."

While Randy is happy that he was able to make his daughter's horse farm dream a reality, he expects—and receives—a dedicated effort from her to make it successful.

"One of the first things my dad told me is that everything has to be perfect and clean and in order," Sara said. "He told me, 'I know you have your hands full and have a heck of a job to do, but I want this place to look like it belongs in Kentucky,' so that's been my drive since we bought it."

Sara credits her dad for transferring some of his horsemanship skills to her, and she's also learned from another valuable source, the late Hall of Fame trainer Jack Van Berg.

"I used to sit down with Jack, and he'd tell me different things to try for different situations with a horse," she said. "We used to have quite a few horses out here for him. He was good friends with my dad, so he came here a lot."

Randy makes the seven-hour drive from Anthony to Hot Springs each week during the Oaklawn meet and a couple of times a month during the rest of the year. But he knows the farm is in good hands.

"I got a text from her one time, and she said, 'Dad, you couldn't drag me off here with a tractor,'" Randy said. "I recently had three different people come up and tell me what a great job she was doing. It makes her happy, and it makes me happy."

GETTING INTO THE STALLION GAME

The Patterson farm came into being just prior to the success of Moonshine Mullin, so standing stallions—or even breeding many of their own horses—was not really part of the original game plan.

That all changed when they had a grade 1 winner in need of a home to stand stud. Although Sara had completed a long list of renovations and improvements to the farm at the time, it didn't have the facilities or the room for a stallion operation. So the Pattersons decided to stand Moonshine Mullin at nearby Lake Hamilton Equine Center, which is owned and operated by Dr. Jesse Clement and his wife, Joan.

"Dr. Clement has done this for years and years, so he's an extremely good broodmare vet," Sara said. "He will find a way to get a mare in foal; he'll take his time and do whatever he needs to do."

After Moonshine Mullin entered stud in 2016, the Pattersons doubled down on their stallion interests with Street Strategy, whom Randy had purchased privately after the passing of owner Dave Clark. The son of Street Sense ran seventh in the 2015 Las Vegas Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile (G1) in what was his last start for Clark's Iron Horse Racing. He made just one start for Patterson, but it was a big one: a victory in the $100,000 Fifth Season Stakes at Oaklawn. An injury after that race ended his career with six wins from 11 starts and earnings of $282,920, all under the care of Morse.

Although Randy has bred some horses in the past, the young horses at Cedar Run are the first true homebreds raised on his own property and by his own stallions.

FROM KANSAS TO ARKANSAS

With no disrespect to Anthony Downs, which for more than a century served as an important albeit small track for Kansas horsemen, comparing it to Oaklawn is akin to playing on a high school ball field versus Yankee Stadium. Coincidentally, both tracks opened in 1904, but while Oaklawn approaches six-figure purses for maiden and allowance races, the average pot at Anthony Downs was usually somewhere around the population of the town, which is 2,132.

Anthony Downs was never known as a launching pad for top-level Thoroughbreds, but it did play a vital role in the Patterson family's love of the sport. And so does Oaklawn, where Sara still remembers visiting the first time.

"All I had been to was Anthony and Eureka Downs (another small Kansas track), and I remember being in awe of Oaklawn," she said. "I was in junior high the first time my dad brought me to Hot Springs on spring break, and I told him one day I want to live here. And it just so happened that it turned out that way, and here I am."

She fulfilled her dream of living in the Hot Springs area and also working there, even if she doesn't call it work.

"This isn't work to me," she said. "I live on the farm and walk out the door, and I couldn't be more grateful for all this. It's amazing to do something you are so passionate about that it doesn't feel like working." BH
